

Do It Now

Hard jobs I've had include picking cotton, laying sod, unloading sheetrock, police dispatcher, and selling books door to door. Selling books as a college student for four summers in three states taught me three key words to getting a Fresh Start.

I knocked on over ten-thousand doors. I met all kinds of people under all kinds of circumstances. I interrupted meals, naps, beer parties, phone calls, family feuds, family reunions, prayer meetings, soap operas, and various other gatherings. Three words helped me get a Fresh Start after every encounter.

Most people were nice. A few people were extremely nice. I was given free meals, free lodging, and lots of free advice. I could count on one hand the number of extremely rude people I met. Three words kept me going whether people were kind or cruel.

I worked hard, followed instructions, had my share of failures but overall was very successful at what I did. Three words helped me get a Fresh Start after success or failure during those four summers of eighty-hour work weeks.

Three words helped me go to the next house after somebody told me no. Three words helped me get up on rainy days. Three words helped me face fear of failure. Today those same three words are helping me bounce back from major mid-life problems. These three words can help you get a Fresh Start today.

"Do it now." Or as Thomas Carlyle noted, "Our job is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand."

Want a Fresh Start physically? Do it now.
Want a Fresh Start spiritually? Do it now.
Want a Fresh Start relationally? Do it now.
Want a Fresh Start emotionally? Do it now.
Want to make changes? Do it now.

God wants you to be able to get a Fresh Start Now more than you do.
